| Residential | In local centres current residential development policy states new dwellings will be permitted within the designated settlement boundaries: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • On previously developed land; or • On small infill plots within an existing frontage; or • Where they will be provided through the conversion or subdivision of existing residential or non-residential building; or • On other sites where development would facilitate significant environmental improvement or the delivery of essential social, cultural or economic infrastructure; • On sites allocated. In all cases on sites in local centres the proportion of affordable housing should not be less than 50% of the units provided, except where a higher proportion of open market is shown to be essential to secure overall development viability. Exceptionally, where the need for affordable housing cannot be met within the settlement boundary, and there is a specific local need identified for such housing, then permission will be granted for a development on suitable sites adjoining the settlement boundary. In such cases all housing will be required to be affordable. |
| Employment | Current policy (COR 18) allows the provision of new employment sites within and adjoining the Local Centres where there is evidence that demand cannot be met by existing or permitted sites. In Local Centres the following types of local employment and business development are considered appropriate: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Provision for the controlled expansion and development of existing businesses; • Support for small scale development needed to facilitate the establishment of office, light industrial, service and creative industries and home-based enterprises, including live-work units. |
